CFES and HSES help save the gorillas

In partnership with Northeast Georgia RESA, both Colham Ferry Elementary and High Shoals Elementary are collecting used cell phones to help save gorilla habitats. Coltan - a critical component of cell phones - is found in only a few places around the world, including a gorilla habitat in the Congo.

Students have engaged in a variety of project-based learning activities, will have a field trip to UGA, and a field trip to the Atlanta Zoo. Great job to our students and teachers for being Guardians of the Gorillas!
